After the closing of the Change of Ownership, SMP Illinois Region Health System Board intends to continue with its comprehensive review of all services provided, and each community served by the new System. Recommendations from this review will be reviewed by the St. Margaret's Hospital Board and SMP Illinois Region Health System Board. To the extent that the review identifies changes in services or staffing, or additional investments in physical plant, the SMP Illinois Region Health System Board, working with St. Margaret's Hospital's Board, will determine which changes or investments are in the best interest of the communities served, and implement changes as it determines appropriate. If such changes require approval of the Illinois Health Facilities and Services Review Board, the hospital will seek permission from the Illinois Health Facilities and Services Review Board prior to making any such changes.

strategies. Performance expectations will be identified during the design or redesign phase of a function, process or service. Some key elements that will be considered in designing processes are:

- hospital mission, vision, values, and strategic plan;
- needs and expectations of the primary constituents;
- consistent with current clinical knowledge and technology; and
- incorporation of experience from other organizations to reduce the occurrence and risk of sentinel events.

B. Performance Measurement:

Measurement is accomplished through data collection on processes and outcomes, established indicators, other sensors of performance and to address improvement priorities. Data are collected to:

- monitor the stability of existing processes;
- > identify opportunities for improvement;
- > identify changes that will lead to improvement; and
- > demonstrate that improvement is sustained.

The hospital leaders will determine the scope of measurement based on important patient services and organizational functions, and prioritize its focus by placing emphasis upon the dimensions of performance.

Efficacy

Appropriateness

Availability

Timeliness

Effectiveness

Continuity

• Safety • Efficiency

Respect/earing

Performance measures will be designed to assure the measure can:

- identify the events and population it was intended to identify;
- define data elements and allowable values;
- detect changes in performance over time;
- allow for comparison within the organization or other entities;
- demonstrate that data intended for collection is available; and
- report results in a way useful to the organization and others.

Performance measures will include data on the following:

- 1. The needs, expectations, and satisfaction of individuals and organizations served.
- 2. The performance of processes that involve risks or may result in sentinel events, some of which may include:
  - medication use;
  - operative or other procedures that place patients at risk;
  - use of blood and blood components;
  - restraint use;
  - earc/services provided to high risk populations; and
  - outcomes related to resuscitation.
- 3. The performance of areas targeted for further study, which may be identified by data on process stability, risks, sentinel events, and priorities set by the leaders.
- 4. The monitoring of improvements in performance and to determine the effectiveness of change, and that sustained improvement continues.

C. Data Aggregation and Analysis:

The goal of aggregating and analyzing data is to develop a process that incorporates four basic comparisons: with self, with other comparable organizations, with standards, and with best practices. Conclusions about current performance are based on comparison with:

- pre-established criteria;
- sentinel events;
- control limits;
- · review of all occurrences; and
- other interpretation methods.

Data are aggregated and analyzed on an ongoing basis appropriate to the activity or area being studied, and to make judgments about a particular process's stability or an outcome's predictability in relation to performance expectations.

Appropriate statistical techniques and tools will be used to assess variation and identify where improvement opportunities need to occur.

Performance is compared internally over time, to the performance of similar processes in other organizations, and to external sources of information.

Benchmarking comparisons, to identify excessive variation or unacceptable performance may include:

- current scientific, clinical and management literature;
- · practice guidelines or parameters;
- performance measures;
- reference databases; and
- standards.

Significant undesirable patterns or trends in performance and sentinel events will be intensively analyzed to determine where best to focus changes for improvement. Based on the scope of care and services, intense analysis is performed for the following:

- confirmed blood transfusion reactions;
- significant adverse drug reactions; and
- significant medication errors.

A root cause analysis will be performed for:

- sentinel events;
- major discrepancies, or patterns of discrepancies, in pre operative and post operative diagnoses, including those identified during pathologic review of specimen's removed during surgical or invasive procedures; and
- significant adverse events associated with anesthesia use; and
- other events as identified.

D. Performance Improvement:

A fundamental goal of the performance improvement function is to improve existing processes and outcomes and then to assure that the improved performance is sustained. A systematic approach will be used in redesigning current processes or acting on opportunities for incremental improvement activities. This includes:

- identifying potential improvement opportunities;
- testing a strategy for change;
- assessing test data to see if achievement of desired results occurred; and
- · implementing the improvement strategy facility wide.

The process for improvement strategy will be modeled on the FOCUS-PDCA concept:

- F Find a process improvement opportunity
- O Organize a team or focus group that knows the process
- C Clarify current knowledge of the process
- U Uncover root causes of process variation
- S Start improvement cycle
  - P Plan a strategy
  - D Do changes on a small test scale
  - C Check test data for desired results
  - A Act implement facility wide
