Good Morning,

Please post this comment to the IL HFSRB site:

West Suburban Medical Center has served the diverse community in which it sits for more than 100 years. The challenges have been many, but the commitment steadfast. We want to be the community hospital where patients feel safe, expertly cared for, and listened to with intention. We want to be the community hospital where physicians and staff can connect with their "why." Resilience Health now affords us the best chance to continue this mission and our values. The smaller, local ownership will be connected to the local issues, and be much better prepared to respond to whatever comes our way.
