

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Constance Abene
1805 Dresden Ave
Rockford, IL 61103
connie.abene-roberson@osfhealthcare.org

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Carol Bainbridge
134 Hastings Way SW
Poplar Grove, IL 61065
carol.a.bainbridge@osfhealthcare.org

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a health care executive with extensive experience in operations, financial sustainability, and patient care, I want to express my concerns regarding the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). While the goal of expanding health care services is understandable, this project poses significant risks to the stability and efficiency of the current health care ecosystem in northern Illinois.

From an operational standpoint, the Rockford area is already equipped with three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center. The region also has several emergency departments, and numerous urgent care centers that adequately serve the local population. Introducing another hospital into this already saturated market is not only unnecessary but also counterproductive. The current infrastructure already provides sufficient capacity, and adding more beds would likely result in underutilization, inefficiencies, and increased overhead costs.

Financially, the proposed hospital could strain the existing health care systems by diverting patients and resources away from established institutions, potentially leading to increased costs for patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. This project would not contribute to an enhancement in patient experience or care quality but instead could create redundancies and financial pressures that threaten the sustainability of the entire health care market in the region.

I strongly request that this project be denied and instead focus on helping strengthen and support our current health care facilities in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Blakey
525 W Kellar Pkwy
Peoria, IL 61614
kimberly.blakey@osfhealthcare.org

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a health care executive with extensive experience in operations, financial sustainability, and patient care, I want to express my concerns regarding the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). While the goal of expanding health care services is understandable, this project poses significant risks to the stability and efficiency of the current health care ecosystem in northern Illinois.

From an operational standpoint, the Rockford area is already equipped with three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center. The region also has several emergency departments, and numerous urgent care centers that adequately serve the local population. Introducing another hospital into this already saturated market is not only unnecessary but also counterproductive. The current infrastructure already provides sufficient capacity, and adding more beds would likely result in underutilization, inefficiencies, and increased overhead costs.

Financially, the proposed hospital could strain the existing health care systems by diverting patients and resources away from established institutions, potentially leading to increased costs for patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. This project would not contribute to an enhancement in patient experience or care quality but instead could create redundancies and financial pressures that threaten the sustainability of the entire health care market in the region.

I strongly request that this project be denied and instead focus on helping strengthen and support our current health care facilities in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Karen Brodbeck
1587 Sweetwater Bnd
Metamora, IL 61548
karenbrodbeck@hotmail.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Toni Cannella
4483 Centerville Rd
Rockford, IL 61102
tonijo04@yahoo.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a health care executive with extensive experience in operations, financial sustainability, and patient care, I want to express my concerns regarding the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). While the goal of expanding health care services is understandable, this project poses significant risks to the stability and efficiency of the current health care ecosystem in northern Illinois.

From an operational standpoint, the Rockford area is already equipped with three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center. The region also has several emergency departments, and numerous urgent care centers that adequately serve the local population. Introducing another hospital into this already saturated market is not only unnecessary but also counterproductive. The current infrastructure already provides sufficient capacity, and adding more beds would likely result in underutilization, inefficiencies, and increased overhead costs.

Financially, the proposed hospital could strain the existing health care systems by diverting patients and resources away from established institutions, potentially leading to increased costs for patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. This project would not contribute to an enhancement in patient experience or care quality but instead could create redundancies and financial pressures that threaten the sustainability of the entire health care market in the region.

I strongly request that this project be denied and instead focus on helping strengthen and support our current health care facilities in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Brandi Clark
10904 N Jason Dr

Dunlap, IL 61525
brandi.l.clark@osfhealthcare.org

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a health care executive with extensive experience in operations, financial sustainability, and patient care, I want to express my concerns regarding the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). While the goal of expanding health care services is understandable, this project poses significant risks to the stability and efficiency of the current health care ecosystem in northern Illinois.

From an operational standpoint, the Rockford area is already equipped with three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center. The region also has several emergency departments, and numerous urgent care centers that adequately serve the local population. Introducing another hospital into this already saturated market is not only unnecessary but also counterproductive. The current infrastructure already provides sufficient capacity, and adding more beds would likely result in underutilization, inefficiencies, and increased overhead costs.

Financially, the proposed hospital could strain the existing health care systems by diverting patients and resources away from established institutions, potentially leading to increased costs for patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. This project would not contribute to an enhancement in patient experience or care quality but instead could create redundancies and financial pressures that threaten the sustainability of the entire health care market in the region.

I strongly request that this project be denied and instead focus on helping strengthen and support our current health care facilities in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Robert Anderson
615 W Maple Dr
Eureka, IL 61530
robrt59@aol.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Ballard
2326 18th Ave
Rockford, IL 61104
lzbth_ballard@yahoo.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a health care executive with extensive experience in operations, financial sustainability, and patient care, I want to express my concerns regarding the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). While the goal of expanding health care services is understandable, this project poses significant risks to the stability and efficiency of the current health care ecosystem in northern Illinois.

From an operational standpoint, the Rockford area is already equipped with three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center. The region also has several emergency departments, and numerous urgent care centers that adequately serve the local population. Introducing another hospital into this already saturated market is not only unnecessary but also counterproductive. The current infrastructure already provides sufficient capacity, and adding more beds would likely result in underutilization, inefficiencies, and increased overhead costs.

Financially, the proposed hospital could strain the existing health care systems by diverting patients and resources away from established institutions, potentially leading to increased costs for patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. This project would not contribute to an enhancement in patient experience or care quality but instead could create redundancies and financial pressures that threaten the sustainability of the entire health care market in the region.

I strongly request that this project be denied and instead focus on helping strengthen and support our current health care facilities in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Megan Brennan
2012 N 4750th Rd
Leland, IL 60531
Meganmbrennan1@gmail.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Kristi Cabonor
10403 William Trl
Roscoe, IL 61073
Kristi.A.Cabonor@osfhealthcare.org

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Paul Chiodini
1308 Evelyn St
Rockford, IL 61103
EMTPaul911@aol.com

Dear Chairwoman Savage,

As a resident of the greater Rockford area, I am deeply concerned about the proposed development of a neighborhood hospital in Roscoe, Illinois (Project No. 24-018). This project, if approved, could significantly disrupt our community's health care system, jeopardize patient safety, and destabilize the overall health care market in northern Illinois.

Three hospitals, including two Level 1 Trauma Centers and one Level 2 Trauma Center, serve our area. Several emergency departments and numerous urgent care centers collectively provide ample care for our population. We also have an excess of medical-surgical beds, making the need for a new facility unnecessary.

If this project proceeds, it could lead to an unnecessary outflow of patients seeking care out of state, resulting in increased costs for everyone—patients, insurance companies, and government health care programs. The addition of a new hospital would place an undue financial burden on our existing health care systems without delivering significant improvements in care quality or access.

I urge you to deny the establishment of a new hospital and instead focus on helping to strengthen and support our current health care facilities. There are enough beds and emergency services in our area to provide accessible high-quality care without risking patient safety and, increasing health care costs in the northern Illinois health care market.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Amy Clendening
7030 E Wildwood Rd
Stillman Valley, IL 61084
Amy.L.Clendening@osfhealthcare.org